Partial compliance:

6. The State shall establish a community development fund, in the terms of paragraphs 213 – 215 of this judgment.

The explanation of what is still pending regarding order is in the Considering clause 39 of the Court's monitoring compliance resolution of November 22, 2010, which states:

39. Therefore, given that the State has transferred at least some of the monies ordered in the Judgment to the development fund, the Court finds that this obligation has been partially complied with. However, the Court highlights that the Judgment set a five-year deadline, running as of the date on which the latter was served, for the implementation of the health, housing, and educational programs established through that fund. Thus, the Court considers that the State must transfer the full amount ordered in the Judgment to the development fund as soon as possible. It must also provide the Court detailed information on the amounts that have already been transferred to it, the amounts still pending, a schedule containing the dates on which these transfers are to be executed, and whether the Moiwana Community has received the interest that has accrued on the amounts awarded. It must also provide supporting documentation with respect to the amounts it has already transferred to the development fund.
