

Sexual Orientation: A Human Right

An Essay on International Human Rights Law

by

ERIC HEINZE

MARTINUS NIJHOFF PUBLISHERS
DORDRECHT / BOSTON / LONDON

CONTENTS

ABBREVIATIONS	xix
PART ONE: THE OLDEST AND NEWEST OF PROBLEMS	1
Chapter 1: Less Equal?	3
1.1 The Human Rights Context . . . . .	10
1.2 Synopsis . . . . .	22
1.3 Purposes . . . . .	27
Chapter 2: Sexual Orientation and Sexual Minorities	31
2.1 The Normative-Heterosexual Paradigm of Social Organization . . . . .	31
2.2 The Emergence of Sexual Minorities . . . . .	37
2.3 The Concept of Sexual Orientation . . . . .	44
2.4 The Concept of Sexual Minorities . . . . .	50
2.4.1 The General Concept of Minorities . . . . .	50
2.4.2 The General Concept Applied to Sexual Minorities	53
2.5 Definitions . . . . .	59
PART 2: FROM WESTERN CONCEPTS TO UNIVERSAL LAW?	63
Chapter 3: The Problem of Universality	67
3.1 The Analogy to Universal Human Rights Law in General	67
3.2 The Analogy to the Social Sciences in General . . . . .	75
Chapter 4: Rights, New and Old	79
4.1 Three Generations of Rights . . . . .	80
4.2 Historical Location of Rights of Sexual Orientation . . .	84
Chapter 5: Practical Concerns	89
5.1 The Political Functions of Human Rights Law . . . . .	90
5.2 The Moral, Symbolic and Didactic Functions of Human Rights Law . . . . .	92

Chapter 6: Rights of Sexual Orientation in the World Today . . . . .	105
6.1 The Expansive Recognition Model . . . . .	106
6.2 The Intermediate Recognition Model . . . . .	110
6.3 The Minimum Recognition Model . . . . .	111
6.4 The Mixed Recognition Model . . . . .	112
PART 3: METHODOLOGY	117
Chapter 7: Rights, New and Extant . . . . .	121
7.1 The Positivist Approach . . . . .	121
7.2 The Naturalist Approach . . . . .	125
7.3 The Dialectic of Positivism and Naturalism . . . . .	129
Chapter 8: Jurisprudential Foundations . . . . .	131
8.1 The Principle of Strict Egalitarianism . . . . .	132
8.2 The Principle of Extant Rights . . . . .	135
8.3 The Principle of Fundamental Rights . . . . .	142
8.4 General Rule . . . . .	144
PART 4: FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS OF SEXUAL ORIENTATION	153
Chapter 9: Personhood . . . . .	157
9.1 Sexuality, Sexual Orientation, and Personhood . . . . .	157
9.2 The Role of the Social Sciences . . . . .	162
Chapter 10: Privacy . . . . .	171
10.1 Aspects of the Right . . . . .	172
10.1.1 The Decisional Aspect . . . . .	173
10.1.2 The Spatial Aspect . . . . .	175
10.2 Jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights . . . . .	175
10.3 Jurisprudence of the United States Supreme Court . . . . .	178
10.3.1 The Decisional Aspect Applied to Private, Consensual, Sexual Acts . . . . .	183
10.3.2 The Spatial Aspect Applied to Private, Consensual, Sexual Acts . . . . .	184
Chapter 11: Liberty . . . . .	187
11.1 Three Conditions of Liberty . . . . .	187
11.1.1 Neminem laedere . . . . .	187
11.1.2 Palpable Harm . . . . .	188
11.1.3 Denial and Limitation . . . . .	192

11.2 Unjustified Limits on Rights of Sexual Orientation . . . . .	193
11.2.1 Jurisprudence of the United States Supreme Court . . . . .	193
11.2.2 Jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights . . . . .	196
11.2.3 Sham Limitations . . . . .	208
11.2.4 The Right to Be Different . . . . .	209
11.3 Justified Limits on Rights of Sexual Orientation . . . . .	210
Chapter 12: Equality	215
12.1 Sex, Gender, and Sexual Orientation . . . . .	216
12.2 General and Specific Equality . . . . .	220
12.3 The Jurisprudence of "New" Categories . . . . .	221
12.4 Discrimination . . . . .	225
12.4.1 Invidious Treatment . . . . .	226
12.4.2 Systemic Discrimination . . . . .	227
12.5 A Sample Model . . . . .	229
12.5.1 Levels of Scrutiny . . . . .	231
12.5.2 Sexual Orientation as a Suspect Classification . . . . .	233
12.6 Equality: Between Hegemony and Subsidiarity . . . . .	236
Chapter 13: Towards a Jurisprudence of Sexual Minorities	243
13.1 The Legal Concept of Minorities . . . . .	244
13.1.1 Varieties of Rights . . . . .	245
13.1.2 Minority Rights . . . . .	247
13.1.3 Definitions . . . . .	249
13.2 Towards a Legal Concept of Sexual Minorities . . . . .	253
Chapter 14: Other Rights	259
14.1 The Scope of Rights: Third-Party Applicability ( Drittwirkung ) . . . . .	259
14.2 Rights against Inhuman or Degrading Treatment . . . . .	262
14.3 Rights of Thought and Conscience . . . . .	264
14.4 Rights of Speech and Expression . . . . .	266
14.4.1 Sexual Minorities as "Subjects" of Speech and Expression . . . . .	266
14.4.2 Sexual Minorities as "Objects" of Speech and Expression . . . . .	268
14.5 Rights of Association . . . . .	270
14.6 Criminal Law . . . . .	272
14.6.1 Sexual Minorities as "Subjects" of Criminal Law . . . . .	272
14.6.2 Sexual Minorities as "Objects" of Criminal Law . . . . .	277

14.7 Employment Rights . . . . .	278
14.7.1 Public Employment . . . . .	278
14.7.2 Private Employment . . . . .	281
14.8 Goods and Services . . . . .	282
14.9 Sexual Orientation and Young People . . . . .	282
14.9.1 Young People as "Subjects" of Rights of Sexual Orientation . . . . .	283
14.9.2 Young People as "Objects" of Rights of Sexual Orientation . . . . .	283
14.10 Travel, Immigration and Asylum . . . . .	286
PART 5: TOWARDS POSITIVE LAW	287
Chapter 15: A Model Declaration	289
Chapter 16: Recommendations	305
16.1 Further Research . . . . .	305
16.2 Further Action . . . . .	306
APPENDIX — Excerpts from International Human Rights Instruments . . . . .	309
WORKS CITED	355
1. Cases	355
2. Books	357
3. Articles and Other Works	368
INDEX	391

Unless otherwise specified, all translations of foreign texts into English are the author's.